In Happy Valley

the new book by

John Fox, Jr.

HAPPY VALLEY and St. Hilda are the centre of the comedy and tragedy in which Allaphair, Christopher, Parson Small, the Angel, the Pope, the Marquise of Queensberry, and the Goddess play their parts, sometimes amusing, sometimes pathetic. Always they stand out as real people of the mountains—notable additions to the gallery of Kentucky mountaineers with which Mr. Fox has for so many years enriched our literature. They have taken a place not only in the books that are permanently read, but on the stage, the film, and in music. This is Mr. Fox's first book of fiction in four years and it will receive a wide welcome.

BEYOND

By John Galsworthy

"The story is full of thrills. From start to finish it maintains its interest; and the tragic denouement is logical. Moreover, Mr. Galsworthy's style, as usual, makes reading the book a very real pleasure."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"Galsworthy's 'Beyond' is probably the most important work of fiction of the last few months."—N. Y. Evening Post.

"Told with an art never surpassed in his former writings. His analysis of hearts is searching and inerrant to a degree seldom approximated in our current literature."—New York Tribune.

THE GREEN JACKET

By Jennette Lee

A small woman in gray—gray eyes and hair, and the close-fitting suit and small hat were of soft gray. Any one passing her in a crowd would not have noticed her. Yet this was Milly Newberry, head of the successful Millicent Newberry Detective Agency, who had some ideas of her own.

Detective agencies had worked for two years on the disappearance of the Mason emeralds without result. The little lady in gray goes to the Mason home as a seamstress and wins her way into the hearts of all. When she left, the green jacket she had been knitting was finished. There was no "story" for the newspapers, but there was happiness in the Mason home.

On the Right of the British Line, by Captain Gilbert Nobbs Late L. R. B.

This is the simple direct narrative by a young English officer of his brief but intense experience at the front in the battle of the Somme, in which he was blinded and captured, and of his life in German hospitals and prison camps until released as unfit for service. No other book gives any such realization of an officer's duties and responsibilities in the field and in battle, nor is there any such a picture of life as a German prisoner of war.

Mankind: Racial Values and the Racial Prospect, by Seth K. Humphrey

This untechnical study, based upon the accepted principles of the action of heredity and environment, bears directly upon many of the pressing questions of the day and of the moment—such, for instance, as that of immigration and even by strong implication upon that of conscription—but only incidentally; it is, in fact, a broad study of racial values as they have affected and as they will affect civilization and human progress according to their relation and combination.

My War Diary, by Madame Waddington

Madame Waddington, who, as all readers know, has described with rare vividness almost every phrase of the brilliant social and political life she has taken part in, could not fail when she turned to the years of the war to make a chronicle of almost unique interest. To her real genius for writing the memoirs of her time she adds here the intense feeling of a Frenchwoman—as her marriage and long life in France have virtually made her—of a mother, and the head of a home.

The Origin and Evolution of Life, by Henry Fairfield Osborn,

President of the American Museum of Natural History, author of "Men of the Old Stone Age."

In this work the author takes some of the initial steps toward a new conception of evolution and of heredity, founded upon his studies of what were probably the initial stages in the origin of life when the capture, storage, and release of energy made up the whole life of the organism.

The whole treatment from beginning to end is entirely fresh and original and is the author's most important contribution to biology.

APPLETON NOVELS

Must the Woman Always Suffer?

THE BROKEN GATE

By Emerson Hough

Why is it that if a woman breaks conventions she is socially ostracised for ever afterward while the man who breaks them with her is not? Around this idea Emerson Hough has written a tremendous story of a woman's brave fight to live down the past for the sake of her boy. And when he comes home from college and is allowed to meet his mother for the first time in his life a series of surprising incidents happen. Certain to be one of the great successes of the fall season.

By the Author of The Sailor

THE COMING

By J. C. Snaith

With the same amazing power that he put in "The Sailor" Mr. Snaith has written a novel dealing with the spiritual and ethical side of the European War. The central figure is a mystic. Some declare that he is the reincarnation of the Christ spirit, others are inclined to believe that he is the Christ Himself, returned to bring peace to a war-swept world.

FOR THE EARLY FALL

By the Author of The Yellow Dove

THE SECRET WITNESS

By George Gibbs

Mr. Gibbs here gives us another novel of the European War quite as thrilling as "The Yellow Dove," which has run through fourteen editions. An Austrian girl and an English man accidentally overhear an astounding Teutonic plot. They are discovered and flee and the great secret service systems of Germany and Austria are set upon their heels. The story gives a clear picture of the events which caused the European War.

FALL PUBLICATIONSDomestic ScienceThe Economy Cook Book

By MARION HARRIS NEIL, formerly Cookery Editor, The Ladies' Home Journal

True patriotic economy does not mean a lowering of America's standard of living. It does mean making the most of everything and striving to eliminate waste. "The Economy Cook Book" gives clear, comprehensive directions on the choosing of foods, and contains only practical and economical recipes for dishes that are as tasty and nutritious as those given in the ordinary cook book, and still much cheaper.

*With illustration. $1.50 netPractical Food Economy

Books by Robert Shackleton

The Book of New York

FEW indeed are they who really know New York. How many residents could locate the oldest house in Manhattan or Brooklyn, or say where West 4th Street crosses West 11th, or tell you the shortest route to Fraunces Tavern or The Little Church Around the Corner? The fact is, there is not one New York, but a hundred, each of immense interest and importance. Mr. Shackleton has found most of them, and describes them here with a wealth of information and genial anecdote. Any American who reads his book will be conscious of a new pride and interest in the metropolis. The volume is handsomely bound and boxed and is illustrated with frontispiece in color and many photographs and pen drawings. Price, $2.50, net.

THE BOOK OF BOSTON

New Holiday Edition

A most delightful picture of Boston and her people, written with the most charming intimacy. Nothing is too big or too small for Mr. Shackleton to chronicle—he sees the kind of bag Bostonians carry and the kind of culture that is their distinction. A book that will last a long time. Handsomely bound and boxed. Illustrated with drawings and photographs. Frontispiece in color. Price, $2.50, net.

Touring Great Britain

THIS is the record of an actual trip made by motor in England, Scotland and Wales. Mr. Shackleton has the keenest possible eye for beauty, for quaint interest, and for the things of practical use to travellers. Whether you intend to travel by steam, or by gasoline, or to make a stay-at-home journey, this readable book will be invaluable. Illustrated with many photographs. Richly bound, and boxed. Price, $2.50, net.

UNVISITED PLACES OF OLD EUROPE

New Edition

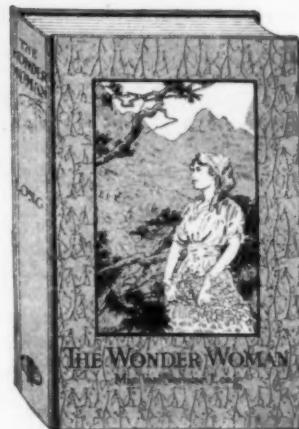

Describes delightfully localities off the beaten track of the tourist—The Forest of Arden, Luxembourg, Neutral Moresnet, Lichtenstein, the sleepy Brenta, and many others. The book is full of personal reminiscence and humor. Illustrated with photographs and drawings. Boxed, Price, $2.50, net.

The Wonder Woman

By MAE VAN NORMAN LONG

SHUT away from the world by the towering mountains is the cabin of David Dale, the "fixing man," and his adopted son, Joey. Simple joys of work well done, the music of birds, the perfume of pine and rose, they share with great-hearted, wandering, loyal Wanza. Then the Wonder Woman opens her little house by the lonely lake, and everything is changed. The spirit of the fresh and wide free spaces and blue skies is in the story. Illustrated. Sube Cane

By EDWARD BELLAMY PARTRIDGE

DON'T read "Sube Cane" if you have a split lip. No description of Mr. Partridge's book can give you any idea of the number of chuckles in it. If you cannot laugh over "Biscuit Westfall's" safe-and-dry swimming lessons, the involuntary haircut, Sube's "drum corpse," the ghosts in the "Prespaterean Church" and the Sale for the Sufferin' Belgians, there is something the matter with you that ought to be attended to at once. To quote "Sube's" father—"That boy can get fun out of anything—even a funeral." "It's Sube I'm laughing at," said Ol' Doc Richards. "Isn't he immense? That boy will make his mark in the world!" The book is happily illustrated by G. C. Widney. Price, $1.35 net.

The Interlopers

By JULIE M. LIPPMANN

Author of "The Governess"

THE many readers of Miss Lippmann's stories "Martha-by-the-Day," etc., will be interested in this story of a high spirited girl who is determined not to acquiesce to her mother's second marriage. Her rebellion leads to many adventures, some painful and some funny. Price, $1.00 net.

Illustrated Gift Books for Young People

WITH CORTES the CONQUEROR

By VIRGINIA WATSON

Author of "The Princess Pocahontas"

THE adventures of a boy who was page to Cortes and accompanied him in the famous Mexican campaigns form the basis of this stirring story. While the historical records are closely followed, the book is vivid and full of action. The nine full page illustrations in rich color, and many other drawings in the book, all by Frank E. Schoonover, will make this one of the most striking and popular books for young people this year. Handsomely bound and boxed. Price, $2.50 net.

CASTAWAY ISLAND

By PERRY NEWBERRY

A MAN and a boy, blown out into the Pacific, find themselves on one of the little-known Galapagos Islands, where they encounter mystery and strange perils. This very remarkable story teems with the thrills of shipwreck, pearl fishing, escaped convicts, and the like, and yet is so quietly told that one feels it must have been a real experience. Two color illustrations, and many others in pen and half-tone. Price, $1.75 net.

THE LITTLE MATCH MAN

By LUIGI BARZINI

DID you ever make a little man of bent matches and string? If so, of course you have thought how exciting it would be if he could come alive and run and dance—and talk. This little match man did—because he was a Haji of Japan, and of course you know what that means. A charming book this for younger children, with many illustrations in color and black-and-white. Beautiful Books for Young Children

OLD MOTHER GOOSE

Pictured by Mary Rose Donovan. Whatever else may change Mother Goose will never go out of fashion. "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe," "Bo-Peep," "The Queen of Hearts," and all the other old rhymes so dear to the heart of the child that they will never be forgotten are presented here with illustrations in color and black-and-white that make the volume a delightful gift, and the price is 50 cents net.

THE ENCHANTED BIRD

By Antoinette De Coursey Patterson. Everyone who believes in fairies—and who doesn't?—is going to like these stories about the Little People who live in water lilies and spider webs, and can be seen only by children. The pictures in color and the many pen drawings add their own charm to the volume. A beautiful gift at the price of—35 cents net.

JOHNNIE SNOOZLE MOUSE in the BIG HOUSE

By Frances Munro. A lively and mischievous mouse was Johnnie, always looking for adventure, and getting into trouble and laughing his way out. In the Big House he met Betsy Boozle Mouse—and goodness knows what he would have done without her—and if you are just the right age how you will enjoy reading about them. The many black and color illustrations help the fun. Price, 35 cents net.

BABY DICK DUCK AND THE DANGEROUS DOG

By C. E. Kilbourne. Very much afraid of the dangerous dog were Baby Dick Duck and his sisters. Then one day they saved the Puppy from drowning, and the Ducks and Dogs became fast friends. FICTION THAT WILL SELL

The Shelleys of Georgia

By BEATRICE YORK HOUGHTON

Illustrated by J. HENRY. Jacket illustration in colors by CHARLES COPELAND. 12mo. Cloth. Price $1.35.

The story is dominated by "Captain Gabe" Shelley, and centres in the love affairs of his beautiful daughter, Rose, lovable in every one of her many moods. Through the romance, with many conflicting elements in which varying moral standards are fearlessly held up for inspection, there runs a thread of fine philanthropy, which culminates unexpectedly. No latter-day problem is dwelt upon as such, yet there is scarcely one that cannot be regarded in a clearer and fairer light after reading this thoroughly human story.

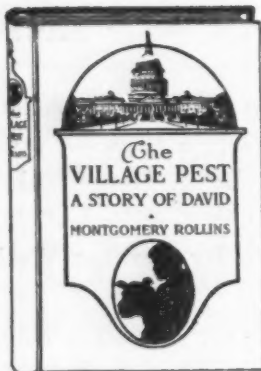

The Village Pest A Story of David

By MONTGOMERY ROLLINS

Author of many books of a more serious nature.

Illustrated by J. HENRY. 12mo. Cloth. Price $1.35.

This is not a juvenile, though about a boy, and a very real one, who lived, moved, and had his stirring and intrepid being in the Washington of thirty-odd years ago. The interest never flags. Youth is indeed served. Our entire national capital is grist for this uproarious son of a burdened but deeply discerning Senator. Undaunted the likable young terror storms the high halls of state, unharmed he careers through hair-raising experiences, with versatility and imagination he plots his campaigns, with coolness he meets the inevitable reckoning.

The Year's Best Gift Book

Anne of Brittany

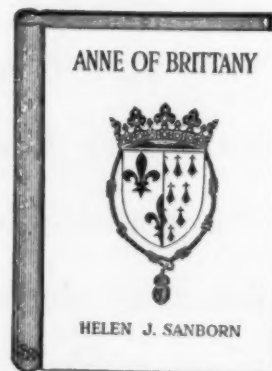

The Story of a Duchess and Twice-Crowned Queen

By HELEN J. SANBORN

Introduction by Professor KATHARINE LEE BATES of Wellesley College. With twenty-seven full page illustrations.

Crown 8vo. Gilt top. Price $2.00

Brittany is one of the most picturesque of regions, and its last duchess, Anne, crowned as the consort of two kings of France, is one of the striking characters of history. Chivalry, romance, intrigue, and gravest administrative problems combine to make the story of this remarkable woman more interesting than fiction. This handsome volume is an important contribution to the world's store of knowledge, made available and attractive.

Camp Fire Girls and Mt. Greylock

By ISABEL HORNIBROOK

Illustrated. 12mo. $1.35.

The adventures of a group of Camp Fire Girls whose invigorating outdoor life around the famous mountain qualifies them for joining the new patriotic organization formed amid Camp Fire ranks, the Minute Girls of 1916, which aims at training girls to be of service to their country in any emergency of peace or war.

Schoolgirl Allies

By REBECCA MIDDLETON SAMSON

Illustrated. Large 12mo. $1.35.

The first big international boarding-school story. The author shows our girls through an American school-girl, the customs, hopes, and aspirations of the girls of other lands. The author says, "I trust that my book may be the means of making allies of schoolgirls the world over." Bright and readable in every line.

The Lure of the Mississippi

By D. LANGE

Illustrated. 12mo. $1.25.

This story has as its historical background the Sioux outbreak in Minnesota and the campaigns of the Civil War along the Mississippi River. Another of Mr. Lange's inimitable "fact and fiction" stories that have satisfied the most critical.

NEW FICTION

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY

Kathleen Norris has written a new novel, "Martie the Unconquered," which, according to The New York Tribune, is "a masterpiece," and "one of the best half-dozen works of fiction of the present year." "A story of the hour and for the hour," says The Boston Transcript. An epic of American womanhood—the big American novel of the Fall season. Now in its 30th Thousand. Illustrated, Net, $1.35.

Peter B. Kyne author of the famous "Cappy Ricks" stories, has written his first novel—"Webster—Man's Man." With a man's man for a hero, an unusual heroine, adventure, love and mystery as ingredients, and for a background the intrigues of a Central American revolution, it will attract many readers. Illustrated, Net, $1.35. (Sept. 28th.)

How Could You, Jean? by Eleanor Hoyt Brainard, author of "The Misdemeanors of Nancy," is a novel built around a girl who shocked everybody by doing a perfectly proper, sensible and altogether interesting thing, and yet made them respect and admire her and amused them vastly besides—just as she will readers of the book. Illustrated by Flagg. Net, $1.35. (Oct. 11th.)

Red Pepper's Patients by the ever-popular "novelist of the home," Grace S. Richmond, marks the welcome return of Red Pepper Burns—Dr. Red Pepper of the flaming hair and the sunny smile and the understanding of human hearts. He is back in a typical and delightful story centering around a hospital romance. Clean, wholesome, charming—and sure of a warm reception by thousands of Red Pepper's friends. Frontispiece in color. Net, $1.35.

James Oliver Curwood has written a story of the wild such as only he can write now that Jack London is gone—the story of Baree, half-wolf, half-dog, and of the humans in whose tragic destiny he plays a part. It is complete in itself, but also a sequel to its author's still selling dog story, "Kazan." Illustrated, Net, $1.35. (Sept. 28th.)

The Abandoned Room is a new mystery story by Wadsworth Camp, author of "The House of Fear." A murder is committed in a locked and sealed room; later the guarded corpse turns in bed; and finally—. Here is a mystery tale that keeps its readers thrilled and baffled and guessing till the final line. For sheer interest it cannot be beaten. Illustrated, Net, $1.35. (Oct. 26th.)

The Whistling Mother

by Grace S. Richmond, is a good cheer story for America's need—the story of a mother who sent her son out to fight for Uncle Sam with a kiss and a smile and not a single tear. “A touching bit of a story,” according to The New York Times, “written with patriotic fire and deep emotion.” Frontispiece, Net, 50 cents.

Enchanted Hearts

is a romantic novel of Barrie-like charm by a new novelist, Darragh Aldrich. This story of how Comfort of the Boarding house brings together the “Prince” and his “True Princess” is full of tender sentiment, whimsical situations, and wholesome humor, and has a wide appeal. Color frontispiece, Net, $1.35. (Sept. 28th.)

Parnassus On Wheels

by Christopher Morley, is the engaging, whimsical tale of a bookstore on wheels, of Roger Mifflin, its philosophical owner, and what happened when Helen McGill, spinster, bought the outfit. Net, $1.25.

Jack Lait,

widely known for his short stories, has written a book called “Gus the Bus, and Evelyn the Exquisite Checker”—an animated epic of life behind the scenes in a restaurant—a book full of humor and humanity, pathos and “punch” and smiles and chuckles galore. Net, $1.25. (Oct. 11th.)

The Great Tab Dope

Short stories, most of them about war and fighting men, by the author of “The Green Curve,” who is famous for his British “Eye-witness” articles and as the chief inventor of the fighting “tanks.” Net, $1.25.

David Grayson

whose earlier books sell year after year as classics, has returned to the manner and style of his “Adventures in Contentment” in his new book, which is called “Great Possessions.” Here is the same warm, friendly spirit broadened and enriched by new experience. Color jacket and illustrations by Fogarty. Net, cloth, $1.50; green leather, $1.75. (Oct. 11th.)

NEW BOOKS

A Journal from Our Legation In Belgium

By Hugh Gibson, then First Secretary to the American Legation in Brussels, gives definite and authoritative accounts of what happened in Belgium at the time when the German tide swept through the country. Mr. Gibson's position was such that he was brought in contact with practically everybody of importance of every nationality in Belgium, and he has told the story of what happened with perfect freedom and great vivacity. Many illustrations. Net, $2.50. (Oct. 26th).

A Green Tent In Flanders

by Maud Mortimer, is an American woman's dramatic story of life in a field hospital five miles back of the firing line in Belgium. Comparable in some ways to "A Hilltop on the Marne," but more poignant and appealing. Illustrated. Net, $1.25.

The Diary of a Nation

by Edward S. Martin, is the record of what America has said, thought and done from the beginning of the world war down to our entrance into it, as set down week by week in the brilliant editorial pages of "Life." Net, $1.50. (Oct. 11th.)

Dramatic Moments in American Diplomacy

by Ralph W. Page. The account of those diplomatic episodes that have preceded wars or prevented wars, and of other little-known diplomatic coups from the early days down to the present. Net, $1.25. (Oct. 26th.)

Trivia

by Logan Pearsall Smith, introduces an author new to America, in a book of essays which are unique and arresting in both form and content. One reader called it "A rich little nugget of smiling folly, wisdom and gaiety, with now and then a tear." Net, $1.25. (Sept. 28th.)

For France

The tribute from our men of arts and letters to a sister republic who gave first blood in the fight for democracy. Short stories, poems, sketches, paintings, music—the best from America's best. Beautifully bound, with many illustrations in color and black and white. Net, $2.50. (Oct. 11th.)

Green Trails and Upland Pastures

by Walter Prichard Eaton, is a fine, true portrayal of nature by an author whose nature writings are very popular. A book that brings home anew the beauty of our United States. Color illustrations by Walter King Stone. Net, $1.60.

D., P. & Co.'s Geographical Manual and New Atlas

256 absolutely new, up-to-date maps, including indexed war-area maps taken from the British General staff; 200 pages of timely and interesting information, and many short articles by leading travellers and explorers. With each copy goes a coupon which after the war will be good for a set of new maps showing changes in boundaries. Price, Net, \$4.50. Size, 9 $\frac{5}{8}$ x 13 $\frac{1}{4}$. Bound in Flexible Peau. (Oct. 11th).

F. P. A. (Franklin P. Adams), has brought together another delightful collection of "ballads, sonnets, triolets, and odes" from his famous Conning Tower. It is called "Weights and Measures," and is similar to "Tobogganing on Parnassus," and his other books of the same kind. Net, $1.00. (Oct. 11th.)

Two Juveniles of interest are Everett T. Tomlinson's "Scouting with General Funston," (Illustrated, Net, $1.25,) and "The Children's Book of Patriotic Stories," by Asa Don Dickinson and Helen Winslow Dickinson, (Illustrated, Net, $1.25.)

Creators of Decorative Styles by Walter A. Dyer, is a delightful book dealing with the masters of the great periods of decorative design. Particularly interesting because each period is approached through the personality of its leading exponent. 64 full page illustrations. Size, 6 x 9. Gilt top. Net, $3.00. (Oct. 11th.)

Persian Miniatures is by H. G. Dwight, author of "Stamboul Nights," "Constantinople, Old and New," etc. The author has here caught the spirit of Persia as he did of Turkey, and interprets it for Western readers. The book is beautifully illustrated. Net, $3.00. (Oct. 26th.)

John Martin's Annual the "Jolly Big Book" for little folks, is more attractive this year than ever. It contains the best stories, pictures, and fun gathered from three past years of John Martin's book. Hundreds of pictures, many in color. Net, $1.25.

Walt Whitman D., P. & Co. are soon to issue the only complete, authorized and copyrighted edition of Leaves of Grass. (Three volumes in one, large print, Net, $1.25.) We wish also to call attention to the fact that we publish Whitman's prose, and Horace Traubel's "With Whitman in Camden."

The New Doran Books

Ambassador James W. Gerard

MY FOUR YEARS IN GERMANY

The most important contribution to the literature of great present day events. It explains much that hitherto has been a mystery. It is American from the first syllable to the last. It contains facsimile reproductions of documents that never were intended to see the light of day. The great big story of a big American whose great good sense and firmness for the right did much to thwart the ambitions of Germany—and to preserve America's honor. Illus. Octavo. Net, $2.00

Theodore Roosevelt THE FOES OF OUR OWN HOUSEHOLD

"In the long run we have less to fear from foes without than from foes within; for the former will be formidable only as the latter break our strength."—From Colonel Roosevelt's Preface. The intense Americanism of THEODORE ROOSEVELT has never found more stirring expression than in this prophetic warning to his own people—pointing the way to the great place which is theirs.

Octavo. Net, $1.50

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle

THE BRITISH CAMPAIGN IN FRANCE AND FLANDERS

—1915 A HISTORY OF THE GREAT WAR—Volume Two

The full and accurate story, "not likely to be superseded," of the dark and terrible year called by the historian "the year of equilibrium." "Sir Arthur Conan Doyle has the true heart of the military historian."—Spectator.

Illustrated. Maps. Octavo. Net, $2.00

Frances Wilson Huard, Author of 'My Home in the Field of Honour'

MY HOME IN THE FIELD OF MERCY

This is the simple story of the work at Villiers—the hospital established by the author in her devastated, beautiful chateau—the tragedy and humor of hospital service and the glorious rehabilitation of the "Home in the Field of Honour."

Illustrated from drawings by Charles Huard. 12mo. Net, $1.35

By the Author of "I Accuse!"

THE CRIME:

A Supplement to "I Accuse!"

In Two Volumes. Volume One. (Price and publication date will be announced later.) A document as timely and as necessary as was "I Accuse!" The author answers the slanders aimed at the suspected authorships of that book; he riddles German claims to exculpation; mercilessly he pursues the responsible heads; clearly and more clearly fastens upon the German Government the greatest crime of the ages; with vision and courage denounces his country's guilt, and insists upon expiation—until that be complete and the indemnity of the soul be paid.

Arnold Bennett

BOOKS AND PERSONS

Being Comments on a Past Epoch (1908-1911)

Only those quite "in the know" realized all along that the brilliant, pungent English critic, "Jacob Tonson," was none other than Arnold Bennett. He pilloried many a well-known figure, and electrified literary London. It was his friend, Hugh Walpole, who got Mr. Bennett to confess to the identity of "Jacob Tonson." And Frank Swinnerton's flair for selection has contributed to the presentation of this collection of exceedingly racy causeries which reveal an Arnold Bennett known only to his intimates—a treat for any lettered reader and a constant intellectual delight.

LETTERS ABOUT SHELLEY

Interchanged by three friends—Edward Dowden, Richard Garnett and William Michael Rossetti.

In view of the extraordinary increase of interest in Shelley that the last year or two has shown, the publication of this correspondence by three gifted enthusiasts for the great idealist is opportune—and will arrest attention now that the ideal of liberty to which Shelley was a martyr has been made the stake of the world's greatest conflict.

AVIATION ENGINES

Their Design — Construction — Repair

By Lieut. Victor W. Pagé, Aviation Section, S. C. U. S. R.

576 Octavo Pages 250 Specially Made Illustrations Price, $3.00

The rapidly increasing interest in the study of aviation, and especially of the highly developed internal combustion engines that make mechanical flight possible, has created a demand for a text-book suitable for schools and home study that will clearly and concisely explain the workings of the various aircraft engines of foreign and domestic manufacture.

This treatise, written by a recognized authority on all the practical aspects of internal combustion engines fills the need as no other book does. The matter is arranged in 32 lessons; all descriptive matter is simply expressed and copiously illustrated so that anyone can understand airplane engine operation and repair even if without previous mechanical training. This work is invaluable for anyone desiring to become an aviator or aviation mechanic.

The latest rotary types, such as the Gnome Monosopape, Clerget and LeRhône, are fully explained, as well as the recently developed Vee and radial types. The subjects of carburetion, ignition, cooling and lubrication also are covered in a thorough manner. The chapters on repair and maintenance are distinctive and found in no other book on this subject.

INVALUABLE TO THE STUDENT, MECHANIC AND SOLDIER WISHING TO ENTER THE AVIATION SERVICE.

NOT A TECHNICAL BOOK BUT A PRACTICAL, EASILY UNDERSTOOD WORK OF REFERENCE FOR ALL INTERESTED IN AERONAUTICAL SCIENCE.

Glossary of Aviation Terms TERMES D'AVIATION

ENGLISH-FRENCH

FRENCH-ENGLISH

Illustrated

A complete glossary of practically all terms used in aviation, having lists in both French and English with equivalents in either language. A very valuable book for all who are about to leave for duty overseas, compiled by Lieuts. Victor W. Pagé, A.S.S.C.U.S.R., and Paul Montariol of the French Flying Corps on duty on Signal Corps Aviation School, Mineola, L. I., include all words in common use. A complete, well illustrated volume intended to facilitate conversation between English speaking and French aviators. The lists are confined to essentials, and special folding plates are included to show all important airplane parts. The lists are divided in four sections—1—Flying Field Terms. 2—The Airplane. 3—The Engine. 4—Tools and Shop Terms. Should Be in Every Aviator's and Mechanic's Kit. Price, Cloth, $1.00.

THE NATION'S PAY ROLL to-day is figured in billions. When you read in the dispatches from Washington of tremendous expenditures, do you realize that the money goes into circulation exactly as it does when some great manufacturing concern distributes its pay checks Monday afternoon? The golden deluge is upon us. "Prosperity in the next twelve months will be greater than it ever was in our history. You can not prevent it if you try." Do not forget that the workers who produce our military necessities will draw good wages and will spend them. The only economy that is being preached is intelligent economy. By eliminating waste and expending wisely the people's purchasing power will be greatly increased. The book dealer and the publisher should see to it that books as a means of education and recreation are proclaimed everywhere. They are the cheapest and the most productive-for-good investment a man can make. They bring him wisdom, knowledge, information, culture, rest, recreation and amusement. Let us be alive to the great opportunity that lies at our door.

Here are five books each with a distinct selling appeal. Number 1 is a novel of intention, dealing dramatically with a great national question but keeping the story for the story's sake ever uppermost. It is as unlike number 2 as Hail Columbia is unlike The Sweet Rose of Sharon. Mrs. Hueston's novel might be called a guide to cheerful living. Her pen is tipped with encouragement, and humor lies at the bottom of her inkwell. The hundred thousand readers who will swear by number 2 are known in every community and to every fiction salesman. Another great gulf lies between 2 and 3. Here is a race-track, a thoroughbred-horse, the girl who owns him and the man that trains him, ultimately the girl owns the man also. Quick, clean-cut, full of dash and go—Roche knows what he's writing about, and you know the customer that will like it. In number 4 appears a situation that is new: three youngish men and three younger women, unmarried, co-operate in adopting a child—Eleanor. Each has her two months of the year—that's why she is Turn About. What she does to these six young humanitarians who want to do their settlement work at home, is delicious and a-plenty. All the tenderness of a Barrie. And now comes number 5. Here a new Merwin is revealed, one without a problem of sex or business, but with all the old skill in depicting life and character. It may sound presumptuous to mention Mark Twain, James Whitcomb Riley and Booth Tarkington, but your customer isn't likely to think so after he's read the story. This book will stand all the praise you give it.

THE BIG CHRISTMAS BOOK FOR 1917

MOTHER GOOSE

RHYMES and FAVORITE FAIRY TALES

512 Pages—450 Pictures
Eight Colored Plates

This beautiful big book will delight every child. It has all the favorite old fairy tales, told in simple language, with numerous pictures, and all the old nursery rhymes, as they are told today, with a picture to every page. It is really two big books in one large handsome volume.

Part One, MOTHER GOOSE, complete. Many otherwise attractive editions give unfamiliar versions of these old favorites or present them in a form altered at the fancy of the editor. A sincere effort has been made in this book to give the best known and most popular form of each verse.

Part Two, FAVORITE FAIRY TALES, contains the fairy stories that children love best, told in simple language and lavishly illustrated. It contains probably more illustrations than any other similar book for young folks.

THE COMPLETE VOLUME is 7 x 9½ inches in size, contains 512 octavo pages, Eight Colored Plates, 450 Text Illustrations... Price Net $1.25

Advertising and SERGEANT EMPEY

IMAGINE the comfortable satisfaction of the man who writes advertising "copy" for OVER THE TOP. His job is an easy one. No more cudgelling of his poor brain for home-made superlatives with an "original flavor." No sly suggestion necessary as to probable circulation of the book. He finds from the sales record that one hundred thousand copies were sold during the booksellers' dullest months, mid-June to September.

And the country at large is writing his "copy."

Here is some of it:—

The New York Tribune says:

"No book that has been written in this war—if indeed in any war—surpasses this simple and unpretentious tale."

A well known bookseller states his belief that it is "The most widely read of all books since August 1, 1914."

Another prominent book man says: "The fastest selling book in many years."

The Chicago Tribune of September 2nd stated:

"This week there were sold four times as many copies of OVER THE TOP as the best selling novel."

The Chicago Daily News says:

"OVER THE TOP is now far and away the best selling book on the stands."

And in another part of the paper says: "It's the big book of the day."

AND IT IS SOLD EVERYWHERE.

OVER THE TOP*, written by ARTHUR GUY EMPEY, published by G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS, has 16 illustrations and sells for $1.50

The Prisoner of War in Germany

By DANIEL J. MCCARTHY, A.B., M.D.

Dr. McCarthy investigated prison camp conditions in Germany during 1916 as the representative of the American Embassy in Berlin, when the British Foreign Office, in particular, was insistent upon some sort of a neutral report. This book is an impartial survey of the work undertaken by the author and covers thoroughly the reports he made to Ambassador Gerard. To those who are anxious to get at the truth of news dispatches telling of German cruelty and brutality, Dr. McCarthy's book will be most welcome because of its evident fairness and well balanced judgment. 8vo. Better-Than-Ordinary Juveniles

Tuck-Me-In Stories

By ENOS B. COMSTOCK

All of these stories are about animals, in the form of fables, though the moral is left for the child to draw. Mr. Comstock shows originality that amounts to genius in the simplicity of his style of both text and picture. The drawings are remarkably true to nature and are in no sense caricatures. This is an unusually meritorious juvenile, one that is handsome in make-up and perfectly sound as literature and good reading. 8vo. Illustrated in color and in line by the author. $1.00 net.

All Aboard For Wonderland

By HELEN OVINGTON
KINGSBURY

Donald and Rose accompany their parents on a Christmas shopping expedition, and when waiting in the station on their journey homeward, fall asleep with the train caller's "all aboard!" ringing in their ears. Holiday Plays for Home, School and Settlement

By VIRGINIA OLCOTT

Designs for Costumes by Harriet Mead Olcott

The eight plays in this volume are expressed in simple language, are easily memorized and require but few inexpensive settings and costumes. They are marked by the same originality that made the author's previous volume so acceptable. There is a distinct demand for children's plays suitable for holiday presentation, which is ably met by Miss Olcott's new book. 12mo. Illustrated in color and in line. $1.00 net.

Plays, Pantomimes and Tableaux for Children

By NORA ARCHIBALD SMITH

Good material for children's entertainments is scarce and hard to find. The author has had wide experience in directing entertainments of this kind, and has been a regular contributor to the Ladies' Home Journal and other periodicals, and the results of her experience are apparent in her writing. Parents and teachers will find in this book something suitable for every occasion. 12mo. $1.00 net.

A Princess of Mars

Edgar Rice
Burroughs

An absorbing tale of adventure and romance forty-three million miles from Earth. It is hardly too much to say it is the boldest piece of imaginative fiction in this generation.

John Carter, American, goes to sleep in a mysterious cave in the Arizona desert and wakes up on the planet Mars. There he meets with a succession of weird and astounding adventures. Think, of battling for a woman, beautiful as a houri, with the Green Men of Mars, creatures fifteen feet high, and of fearsome aspect, with two extra limbs which will function either as legs or arms, of horses like dragons, and watch-dogs like enormous frogs, with ten legs. Only the man who created Tarzan, the Ape Man, could write so bold a story.

"By the World Forgot"

By

Cyrus Townsend Brady

A romance beginning in New York and ending in the South Pacific. A scion of a prominent New York family, groom-to-be in a "marriage of convenience," is shanghaied aboard a sailing vessel by his business partner, who is in love with his prospective bride. The story of the unfortunate victim's awful experiences until and after he reaches a lonely island in the South Sea, inhabited by the descendants of some Dutch settlers, completely cut off from the rest of the world, and the finding there of his heart's desire in a maiden of the forgotten island, is highly absorbing, entertaining and exciting.

Mr. Brady is a master of plot-making and character-sketching. He knows men and women and the good and bad impulses that sway them. His people are real, and that is what makes his stories so interesting. Frontispiece by Clarence F. Underwood. Large 12mo. $1.40

General Pershing Has Cabled for Books

*Millions of Pocket-Size Volumes Needed—
What Kind of Books Do the Men Want?*

OUR troops had been abroad but a short time when General Pershing cabled over for books—for good reading matter for soldiers. The French Government, in listing articles men should supply themselves with, list books as one of the first necessities. Soon the folks at home will hear this call from the men themselves. General Pershing's cable will be followed by tens of thousands of letters. "Send me tobacco, candy - and books!" That will be the demand. It happened with all the European armies. It will happen, already it has begun to happen, with ours. Abroad, literally millions of books have been sent to men in the trenches by the people at home. The folks at home here will now send their millions, particularly this fall and Christmas. Take advantage of this opportunity. Feature books as gifts for soldiers.

Some Men Go Mad Without Books

The men need books in the trenches to keep up their morale. Sometimes for days at a time they are absolutely idle. They must sit still very often, while undergoing the most frightful bombardment. Often men go mad through the boredom of sitting in the trenches, waiting to attack or to be attacked. As a result they call for "books, books—good books to read." They don't want light fiction—they call chiefly for the classics. That has been the experience of our allies. The men want books that will make their minds normal, and keep them normal. When they go back of the front, for periods of recuperation, they demand books all the more. They have gone thru such mental experiences, that they require something to put them in touch again with a sane world. They read—eagerly, cravingly.

The Kind of Books Needed

In response to this demand, when your patrons come asking for "books for soldiers," what will you offer? You can't offer library size volumes. You have to offer something that can really be carried in a pocket, volumes light in weight, and yet able to stand wear.

Our series on the market today fills this need perfectly—the volumes of the Little Leather Library. These books are $3\frac{1}{4} \times 4\frac{1}{4}$ in size; they are genuine pocket-size volumes. They are bound in ooze sheep leather. There are sixty titles, every one complete. They are printed in excellent type on good book paper. And they sell for only 25c each, leaving the bookseller a good margin of profit.

What Happened At One Encampment

Already there has been a sensational demand for these practical volumes.

Stores all over the country are featuring them as gifts for soldiers. They have been on the market something over a year; yet over one million volumes have been sold. Here is an indication of what soldiers think of them—at one encampment, within six weeks, one little store sold over 2500 volumes of the Little Leather Library.

No bookseller should be without a supply of these volumes. This fall there will be close to two million men in the United States Army and Navy. Those who are not abroad in service will be in encampments, where men have even more time to read than in the trenches. There will be hardly a good family in the country which will not have a son, a brother, a relative or a friend, under arms. They are going to shower these men with gifts. And they will include books among the gifts, for books the men will ask for. Do not fail to take advantage of this opportunity, in your vicinity. Feature Little Leather Library volumes for soldiers.

Kit Boxes Holding Five and Ten Books Each Supplied Free

Dealers have found that these books are so inexpensive that patrons purchase five, ten, fifteen and twenty at a time, to send as gifts. In order to assist booksellers in increasing their sales the publishers supply very attractive Kit boxes, in two sizes—one holding five volumes, the other ten volumes. The books can be mailed to soldiers in these boxes, which have attractive red, white and blue labels.

For every thirty books ordered, the publishers give booksellers free three of these Soldier's Kit Boxes—one to hold ten books, and two to hold five books each.

In addition, some striking display signs featuring Little Leather Library volumes as gifts for soldiers—will be provided free.

Why You Should Order Now

There is at present an enormous demand for these remarkable leather-bound classics. What this demand will develop into by Christmas is unpredictable. If, however, experience abroad counts for anything, the demand should be extraordinary. We, therefore, advise you to send in a trial order at once. In the next three or four weeks, you will be able to gauge what your requirements will be for Christmas. It is safe to predict there will be few items on which, this season, booksellers will make more money:

HANDSOME DISPLAY RACK FREE WITH INITIAL ORDER OF 200 BOOKS

THE CHALLENGE OF THE PRESENT CRISIS (Paper Boards, 50 cents net)

Fosdick's New Book—Harry Emerson Fosdick

The author of "The Meaning of Prayer" and "The Manhood of the Master" again shows his remarkable skill for summing up what men are thinking about. The war-induced pessimism regarding Christianity, the Christian attitude toward war, the challenge of the present crisis to the Church and the individual are recognized in all their enormous seriousness—yet the message of the book is one of stirring optimism.

FOR FRANCE AND THE FAITH (Paper Boards, 60 cents net)

By Alfred Eugene Casalis—Translated by W. E. Bristol

Fragments of letters written from barrack rooms and the front by a young French soldier. These letters of unusual charm reflect the spirit of the consecrated youth of France, their courage, patriotism, and large vision of duty. "I have seldom read anything more sincere and more touching; profoundly thoughtful and yet perfectly simple and natural."—Hon. James Bryce.

THE DYNAMIC OF MANHOOD (Cloth, 75 cents net)

By Luther Halsey Gulick

An original treatment of the dominating force in a man's life—love, and its four chief channels of expression—towards friend, woman, children, and God. Beginning with a consideration from the scientific standpoint of the physical basis of love, as well as its significance for character, the author deals with the various hungers of the human heart in a way which inspires a more thoughtful and reverent use of a man's powers.

MOFFATT'S NEW TRANSLATION OF THE NEW TESTAMENT

Art Leather, pocket size, $1.00; India Paper Edition, pocket size..... $1.50
Pigskin India Paper Edition, pocket size..... 3.00

This masterly work is generally recognized by Christian workers as the most vigorous and enlightening translation of the New Testament into modern language. The utmost care has been taken to use English expressions that bring out the fine shades of meaning in the original. This translation has a "freshness and virility" that appeals to scholar, student and reader alike.

THE JESUS OF HISTORY (Cloth, $1.00 net)

By T. R. Glover

(Second edition within a few months.)

"Dr. Glover starts with a literary and human interest in the things said and the person who said them, and soon gets to something too great for any theory to contain and far nearer to the heart's need." Harry Emerson Fosdick says: "I know of no other book in existence that puts the matter with such a combination of human interest, simplicity and scholarly reliability."

RECORDS OF THE LIFE OF JESUS (Cloth, $2.50 net)

By H. B. Sharman

Produced in the language and in the order of the original records. By a unique arrangement all of the advantages of the old Harmonies are retained without any of their disadvantages. The consecutive story of each gospel is told but the arrangement allows for comparison of the same page of matter appearing in two or more gospels. It has been the plan to show on each page all related material from all parts of the records—either by direct parallelism or by attached references. On any page one may find the account of every occurrence within the records of those events or sayings that appear on that page.

FIVE BIG FALL NOVELS

H. G. Wells' Successful New Novel

THE SOUL OF A BISHOP

By the author of "Mr. Britling"

This new Wells novel comes at a time when all America is responding to the lofty ideals of the War. Like another "Mr. Britling," its story gets to the heart of things. Have you an ample stock of this fine novel?

Published Sept. 12. $1.50

Upton Sinclair's New Novel

KING COAL

By the author of "The Jungle"

This novel is bound to make a stir. It reveals through an intensely interesting story the actual conditions of the coal camps of this country. Have you placed your order yet?

Published Sept. 19. $1.50

"An autobiography that ranks with the very greatest in literature."
—William Dean Howells.

A SON OF THE MIDDLE BORDER

Hamlin Garland's New Book

Theodore Roosevelt calls this remarkable story of Mr. Garland's life "a permanent record of the West."

Ill. $1.60. Special Autograph Edition, $2.50.

"No novelist has ever created a more delightful character than this girl."

CHRISTINE

By Alice Cholmondeley

This new novel has already impressed thousands of men and women. The large fifth edition is now almost exhausted; the sixth goes to press shortly. Look up your stock of this successful novel.

Borzoi Books

THE THREE BLACK PENNYS

By JOSEPH HERGESHEIMER. Jacket in full colors.

$1.50 net

A story of the three dark men of the Penny family and of the women they loved—Ludowika, a passionate woman; Susan Brundon, a spiritual woman, and Mariana, in whom both passion and spirit meet and are interpreted in the smiling disdain of small prejudices and conventions. It begins amid the primitive iron forges and furnaces of the Province of Pennsylvania and carries one through to the gigantic mills of to-day. The first American novel to appear over The Borzoi Imprint.

A novel you will be glad to recommend.

GOD AND MR. WELLS

By WILLIAM ARCHER

$1.00 net

This is a critical examination of H. G. Wells' GOD THE INVISIBLE KING. You know how many copies you sold of that book. Mr. Archer voices the doubts that exist in the minds of at least a third of Mr. Wells readers who don't believe in his Invisible King. You can sell GOD AND MR. WELLS to every one of them.

LUSTRA

By EZRA POUND

$1.50 net

Although an American by birth, Mr. Pound has been living in London for many years and "Lustra" is his first book of poems to be printed in this country since 1912.

The London Observer said:—"If these are original verses, then Mr. Pound is the greatest poet of this day. . . . Things of supreme beauty. What poetry should be, that they are."

A BOOK OF PREFACES

By H. L. MENCKEN

$1.50 net

A book of genuinely entertaining and penetrating criticism. The first preface deals with the work of Joseph Conrad; the second gives much information regarding Theodore Dreiser, while the third is the first real appreciation of James Huneker to appear in America. The final chapter, devoted to tracing the influence of Puritanism upon American letters, not of the past but of the present, offers a mass of disquieting but important facts regarding our moralists.

A CHASTE MAN

A novel by LOUIS WILKINSON

Jacket in full colors

$1.50 net

An intimate psychological study of a normal young husband whose frayed matrimonial ties chafe and yet bind him fast. Throughout the book the character of the wife is curiously predominant. Narrow, vain, uncomprehending, secure on the pinnacle of her Church-blessed wifehood, she is a passive vampire.

INTERPRETERS AND INTERPRETATIONS

By CARL VAN VECHTEN

$1.50 net

This book opens with seven full-length portraits; Mary Garden, Olive Fremstad, Geraldine Farrar, Feodor Chaliapine, Yvette Guilbert, Waslav Nijinsky and Mariette Mazarin. Mary Garden! Fremstad! Farrar! How many of your customers are interested in these women?

Mr. Van Vechten's sketches make no academic appeal but portray these great artists intimately.

THE DEAD HAVE NEVER DIED

By EDWARD C. RANDALL

$1.50 net

This book presents new evidence that there is no death, that the dead have never died. You can sell it to every customer who has bought Lodge's "Raymond"—it has the same appeal—only it is written in a far more popular style and retails at half the price.

WHAT NEVER HAPPENED

By "ROPSHIN"

$1.60 net

This novel, first published in a magazine in Russia, created a profound impression. Friend and foe alike have since fallen under its spell. "Ropshin" is now acknowledged as one of the greatest living writers of Russia. The book is the story of the terroristic side of the Revolution in which "Ropshin" was a prominent figure. This account of the events in which he took part admits the public to the inmost sanctuary of the terrorist workshop.

THE ART THEATRE

By SHELDON CHENEY Illustrated. $1.50 net

Mr. Cheney defines the art theatre and its methods. He discusses the vital matters of acting and actors, stage settings, plays, organization and management, buildings and equipment. He closes with a chapter on "Unrealized Ideals" pointing to the next step and the ultimate achievement.

THE BORZOI SPANISH TRANSLATIONS

This series of translations of novels by Spanish authors will be upon the same plan as the very successful Borzoi Russian Translations. It will include classic masterpieces but particular emphasis will be placed on modern and contemporary works.

Books Worth While

The Coming of the Dawn

By JANE A. PIERSON

Cloth, 12mo. Decorated cover. Illustrated. Price, postpaid, $1.50.

This tale of Jew and Gentile, of Russia and America, is one of the most thrilling and suggestive books of this great world-war time. A love story, beginning in America and moving on to that old, prison-bound land of Russia; bringing to light with terrible realism conditions there, with a prophecy of relief, then relating in flashlight clearness the wonderful fulfillment of that prophecy.

With the eyes of the world focused upon Russia as the pivotal point where may rest the outcome of the most stupendous war in all history, this tragic story will captivate and awaken response in the hearts of American readers.

Fort Blocker Boys

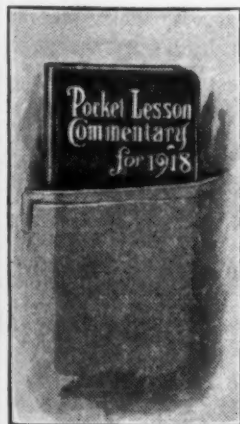

By LEWIS B. MILLER

Author of "A Crooked Trail," "Big Smoke Mountain," "Saddles and Lariats," etc. Cloth, 12mo. Decorated cover. Illustrated. Price, postpaid, $1.50.

The education of an American boy is not complete without a knowledge of the early life in the Southwest which this captivating story so thrillingly reveals. The author writes with convincing realism, because he himself once lived the life of these pioneer boys. He already has an enviable reputation as a teller of tales for youth.

Pocket Lesson Commentary

By E. W. THORNTON

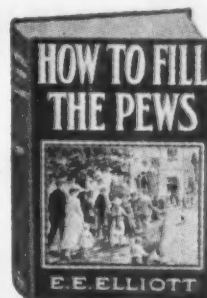

Limp vellum, vest-pocket size. 160 pages. Price, postpaid, 25 cents.

The International Lessons, with keen, illuminating comments, topics for discussion, illustrations, daily readings, etc., all for the entire year, in one handy little book, for pocket use at odd moments.

It is compact, concise, clear and thought-provoking; just the thing for the busy man to carry in his pocket that he may husband the moments profitably by preparing his Sunday-school lesson through reading and meditation.—A. T. Arnold, Gen. Sec. Ohio S. S. Asso., Columbus, O.

How to Fill the Pews

A BAG FULL OF MONEY

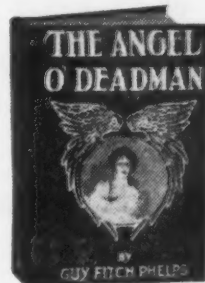

The Angel O' Deadman

By GUY FITCH PHELPS

Author of "The Black Prophet," "The Moan of the Tiber," "The Mountains of the Morning," etc. Decorated cloth, 12mo. illustrated. Colored frontispiece and jacket. Price, postpaid, $1.50.

This big love story throbs with human interest, and has wrought into its very fiber a moral earnestness which powerfully grips and influences the reader. It is one of those tales which irresistibly win your approval. Guy Fitch Phelps has long since proved his right to be counted among the leading story-tellers of the day. "The Angel O' Deadman" gives added proof of his power and versatility.

It is one of those tales which irresistibly win your approval because of the innate manliness of the hero and the sweet womanliness of the heroine.—Michigan Christian Advocate.

THE LANG FAIRY BOOKS

Who could have been a better judge than Andrew Lang as to the most delightful and entertaining of all the fairy tales ever written—or passed on by word of mouth, as they were in the olden days before the invention of printing? Four of these volumes are made up of Lang's choice from the stories of all people—French and English and Scotch, German, Italian, Chinese, American Indian—omitting none, and include among them the old favorites, such as Cinderella, Alladin and the Wonderful Lamp, Dick Whittington, Puss in Boots, etc. The fifth volume is comprised of stories, as Lang says, "Made up out of my own head."

Each bound in cloth; with colored end papers; most attractive individual frontispieces and jackets, and many black and white illustrations.

THE TOM SLADE SERIES

By PERCY K. FITZHUGH

The TOM SLADE BOOKS have received the official endorsement and recommendation of the Boy Scouts of America, and were written with the idea of making the public more familiar with this organization, Scout movement and what it may mean in the character development of the boy; how the "gang spirit" which is in every boy can be diverted from harmful channels and turned into a power for good. In other words, they tell in vivid story form something of Boy Scout ways and how they help a fellow grow into a manhood of which America may be proud.

Price, 75 cents postpaid

TOM SLADE ON THE RIVER; or The Cruise of the Honor Scout.

Tom and his friends at camp, through an exciting chain of events, have an opportunity to put into practice their Boy Scout training in "First Aid." Their ministrations are too late, however, and as a result the man's adopted son is left alone and is for the time being taken care of by the Boy Scouts. It is in the cruiser to which he falls heir that he and the Bridgeboro Troop take the memorable and most entertaining trip which is recounted in this story.

FICTION

Bryant, Marguerite THE SHADOW OF THE STONE

$1.35 net.

Early this Fall there will be brought out a new novel by the author of "Christopher Hibbault" and "Felicity Crofton." Marguerite Bryant has won her place as one of the most distinguished and delightful writers of modern fiction. Her last book, "Felicity Crofton," was perhaps her finest piece of work, but in this new book, written since the beginning of the war, she has touched a still higher point, creating one of the most thrilling and splendid stories written in years.

Musson, Bennet TURN TO THE RIGHT

Founded on the play by Winchell Smith and John Hazzard. $1.35 net.

The story of what is perhaps one of the most popular American dramas since "The Old Homestead" is told here in a way that makes an extraordinarily good novel. The humor and pathos are there with the fuller atmosphere and larger and more intimate development of characters that the novel form makes possible.

Newton, Alma MEMORIES

12mo. $1.00 net.

A book of fiction by a young author whose writing reminds one of Olive Schreiner. In "Memories" one reads of refined feeling, love, and a wondering preception of the mysteries that encompass human life.

Eekhoud, Georges THE NEW CARTHAGE

Translated, with an Introduction by Lloyd R. Morris. $1.50 net.

The book has been crowned by the Belgian Academy.

This novel by the greatest of living Belgian novelists is a story of the city of Antwerp some years before the present war. It is the most famous of Eekhoud's many novels, and the first to be translated into English. In this tremendous story, full of the exuberance, vitality and vigor of Rubens and Tenier, he shows all sides of life in Antwerp.

France, Anatole BOYS AND GIRLS

With illustrations in color by Boutet de Monvel. $2.25 net.

A new edition of this classic for children and grown-ups. One of the most charming and beautiful books, both in illustration and text, that has been written for many years. The reproductions of the illustrations were made in France especially for this edition.

France, Anatole OUR CHILDREN

With illustrations in color by Boutet de Monvel. $2.25 net.

Like "Boys and Girls" this is a modern classic both in text and pictures. No one has so cheerfully and sympathetically described and painted the great events of childhood as Anatole France and Boutet de Monvel, and it is not often that two such geniuses work together in such happy collaboration.

Normand, Charles THE EMERALD OF THE INCAS

Translated by S. M. B. Harvey. Illustrated by Leighton H. Smith and S. B. Kite. $2.00 net.

This thrilling story of Peru to-day tells of an insurrection of the natives with the aim of preserving the ancient empire of the Incas. Candida, the young daughter of a Peruvian Colonel, is carried off as a sacrifice to the ancient gods. A most exciting story in the extraordinary surroundings of the depths of the Andes.

RHYMES OF THE ROOKIES

*Army rhymes for army men by an army man
Just the size to slip into a soldier's pocket*

THESE rollicking ballads of our men in khaki are the breath of the camp. Their cheeriness, their humour, their energy are contagious. They will be read by thousands of rookies in training, by our men with Pershing, by every man in the service from Texas to France.

☞ The book is only four by six inches, attractive in size and make up. The author, W. E. Christian, was formerly editor of the Army and Navy Journal of the Philippines and army writer on the Washington Staff of the New York Herald. Many of the rhymes were written by his son, a captain in the 21st cavalry.

CONQUEST

By

Olive Wadsley

With illustrations by J. Henry Bracker

12mo, cloth, $1.40 net

Romance in its most vivid colours is this story of a Paris gamin who runs away from a sordid home and manages to cross the Channel. A tough little chap, unbreakable, he goes thru many a hard experience in England, growing to manhood, a wonderful combination of English robustness and French alertness. At twenty-five he is at the top of life with youth, beauty and immense success. London goes mad about him, and the love story of this young Samson is told with that stimulating exaltation of spirit to which Miss Wadsley owes her rapid success. "Conquest" is not simply better than "Possession" (now in its third edition). It goes away ahead of it.

THROUGH THE RAINBOW

By FLORENCE PELTIER

A Fairy Story. With illustrations in color by Clara P. Wilson, and in black and white by Jewel L. Morrison. In some respects the reader is reminded of "Alice in Wonderland"; in others, met only by new, original fancies. A book of sheer, unalloyed delight. Small quarto, cloth, net $1.00.

Business Books are Good Sellers

THE present boom in commercial reading was described in The Publishers' Weekly of July 14th under the title "Business Books, the Richest New Vein in the Book Business." Fully half a dozen big publishers are now issuing large numbers of business books. The number already out is very great. J. P. Morgan & Co. have a library of 6,000 volumes; National City Bank 20,000; Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., 19,000. The Newark Public Library lists 1,600 volumes. Brentano's has issued a 128-page list of business books. The taste for such literature has sprung up in the last few years, being fostered by magazines specializing on business stories and by the attention the educational institutions are giving commercial science. The chief subject under discussion in the Special Libraries Section of the recent book convention at Louisville was the providing of business books by libraries.

Heavy Demand

The A. W. Shaw Company, with its magazines, books and reports, is the largest producer of such literature in the world. Its book sales are enormous. Each of the eight books marked in the heavier type in the list on this page has sold in excess of 70,000 copies. The Business Correspondence Library has sold to the extent of 35,000 sets. The Library of Factory Management has gone to the press four times.

These sales have been mostly direct sales by mail. The demonstrated demand warrants the A. W. Shaw Company in offering its books to the trade. A dealer in Chicago sold out his first lot of Shaw books, ordered again, sold out, and has ordered the third time. A bookstore at Detroit has built up in a few months a profitable business in Shaw books; one at Syracuse is sending its representatives into the offices, stores and factories with good prospects for a "bumper crop."

Business books bring in a good class of men customers

FALL ANNOUNCEMENT OF NEW BOOKS OF The Open Court Publishing Company

Poole's Collected Logical Works

Volume Two Laws of Thought $3.00

"Here is an exact reproduction of the 1854 original, with the addition of an index. The same is established of fundamental laws as in the earlier "Mathematical Analysis of Logic" but with more general methods and a wider range of application."—The Mirror, St. Louis.

The Contingency of the Laws of Nature

By EMILE BOUTROUX. Trans. by FRED ROTHWELL. Cloth, $1.50

"M. Boutroux has restored to man, his thoughts and feelings that reality and effective influence over the course of things which common sense attributed to them."—Baltimore News.

Geometrical Lectures of Isaac Barrow

With an introduction by J. M. CHILD. Cloth, $1.25

"The importance of this work to students of mathematical theory goes without saying. The introduction is carefully and ably reasoned."—The Springfield Republican.

Diderot's Early Philosophical Works

Translated and Edited by MARGARET JOURDAIN. Pp. 246. Cloth, $1.00

"No man with an interest in literature and life would care to be without a reading of a fine specimen of Eighteenth Century thought."—The Philadelphia Inquirer.

Professionalism and Originality

By F. A. HAYWARD. Cloth, $1.75

"In view of the privileged and almost irresponsible positions occupied by the professions and of the obscurity involving the questions of professional superintendence and criticism this book is of great and possibly permanent interest."—The Post, Pittsburg.

A Modern Job

An essay on the Problems of Evil. By ETIENNE GIRAN. $.75

"The volume is worthy of careful reading for it presents various tendencies found in our world to-day and also shows that it is dangerous to build one's theology and religion in any one-sided fashion."—International Journal of Ethics.

Three Men of Judea

By HENRY S. STIX. Pp. 112. Cloth, $1.00

This book is not written for scholars but for those simple minded and honest folk who have never read their Bible nor thought much on the subject of religious history, accepting their religion like their politics, as a sort of parental heritage.

SLAVES OF THE LAMP

By the author of "God's Man"

When George Bronson-Howard started work on this book he probably said: "I will give them a book that will make them forget where they are going and why they are going there." It is the sort of story that the distinguished author of "God's Man" would write for the sheer enjoyment of himself and his friends—and he has done his work well.

"SLAVES OF THE LAMP" is what the author calls it—"A Manhattan Night's Entertainment," and though it makes no pretense of being a successor to "God's Man," it has by a curious coincidence the same central theme, "the great opium conspiracy." It is the story of Yorke Norroy secret agent and the chase of the four jade plates. They were green, they were old, and they all looked exactly alike. On them was carved the secret formula for the making of smoking opium. The Chinese Government wanted them badly—so did Yorke Norroy.

The many characters in this book are all unusual and interesting, and the clever writing and the rush of action are what you would expect from the genius of George Bronson-Howard.

THE CLUE IN THE AIR

By the author of "The Crevice," etc.

In the last few years Isabel Ostrander has gradually risen to a point where she is classed as America's foremost writer of detective stories. "THE CLUE IN THE AIR" is Isabel Ostrander at her best.

Literally out of a clear sky "something" drops to the sidewalk at the feet of Timothy McCarthy, ex-policeman—and from that moment your head goes forward a little, your eyes begin to grow brighter and brighter, and you subconsciously thank the gods for such a story as this. It is a tale that treads on tip-toe in the dark—expectant, eager, probing, probing, PROBING for the very heart of things that are hidden from view.

If you enjoy a detective story, don't miss this.

By Mrs. Alfred Sidgwick SALT OF THE EARTH

By the author of "Home Life in Germany"

Says the N. Y. Tribune:

"Mrs. Sidgwick knows Germany and the Germans by inheritance as well as by observation. She has given us an exposition of the German mind, the accuracy of which is self-convincing. Her book will make its mark in current literature."

Says the New York Times:

"will long be accepted by everybody out of Germany as hardly less valuable—perhaps more trustworthy—than the 'papers' of assorted colors that have been issued by the several belligerents."

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men of course do seek to receive countenance and profit, 'so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves, by way of amends, to be a help and ornament thereunto."—BACON.

THE FALL OUTLOOK

DESPITE a persistent effort in many quarters to whip business into line with the "Business as usual" slogan, general business the country over is very "unusual." After many months of extraordinary demand under unlimited competition, such widespread essays in government regulation as we are now experiencing were bound to bring a reaction. This reaction is naturally attended by a decrease in advance contracts and a general tendency to purchase only as necessity arises, and by a tightening of credit. "Yet," as Dun's Review points out, "that existing uncertainties and the enhanced cost of money have not seriously deranged business is made clear by statistics of August failures, the smallest in number for the month of the war period, and the steady progress in the formation of new enterprises testifies to sustained confidence in the future."

Nor is business "as usual" in the book-trade this fall, tho here, at least in certain respects, this is decidedly a matter for congratulation rather than for apprehension. Many—both publishers and booksellers—have responded to the present crisis by following the advice of Herbert Jenkins, the English publisher, and determining to meet the war by forgetting what they knew about the book business and beginning all over again. One bookseller called his staff about him when war was declared, told them frankly he didn't know—none of them knew—what changed conditions would follow, but that they were going to meet new conditions by new bookselling methods—and the result is making this one of the biggest years in the history of the firm. Fiction is "off," we are told on every hand, but the "trouble" seems to be that booksellers are going in for war books, history, historical biographies like Charnwood's "Lincoln" and other "special" lines as they never have before. "Trouble" indeed! If the war is helping American booksellers to break away from the fiction fetish the trade will have made a long step ahead when peace is declared.

Publishers, without exception, report business "good," in many cases "very good." Orders are quite up to expectation, excepting for a tendency on the part of many dealers to nibble gingerly at second rate fiction and novels by new authors. Collections have been good all summer. The paper situation shows a slight but continuing betterment and there is some ground for hoping that the coming Federal Trade Commission hearings in the book paper manufacturers' case may result in further substantial decreases in the future. Gift books of the old-time gaudy type are rarer than usual this year. Fortunately or unfortunately, according to how one looks at it, the total number of books scheduled for fall publication shows a slight increase over last year. The entries in this year's Fall Announcement list, included in this number, compare as follows with those of the past few years (the actual number of titles being slightly less than half the totals given below): 1914, 5795 (about the same as in previous years); 1915, 4200; 1916, 3600; 1917, 3957.

The college text-book field is in a very confused state this fall. Not only have college upperclassmen abandoned their studies by the thousands to enter military service, but there is a restlessness abroad which is causing many of the underclassmen, too young for military service, to quit college and go into any sort of practical work that will enable them to make some contribution toward winning the war. The result is that the colleges are at a total loss to know how many of a given text to order—whether forty or four hundred—and the result has been in a great many cases that they have not ordered at all. The next couple of weeks, the period of college enrollment, will probably witness a rush of telegraph orders for such books.

Another feature of the text-book business at present is the difficulty in securing adoptions of new books owing to a generally prevailing disinclination to worry about such "temporarily unimportant" matters.

In at least two respects both publishers and booksellers will do well to do some active planning for the future, if indeed they have not already done so, namely, regarding the labor shortage and transportation difficulties. In the matter of labor shortage one house reports that it is practically impossible to get trained book-men at present, and, largely owing to shortage of help, the Baker & Taylor Co. is being forced to run until six o'clock six days a week. In this connection it would seem wise to heed the warning of the English publisher quoted above, that were he meeting the war again he would begin at once to train women to take the place of the able-bodied men on his staff.

The shipping situation was summed up this week by one publisher in the statement that express now takes about as long as freight formerly took and there is simply no telling when freight will arrive. For instance, an express shipment of jackets from a printer within forty miles of New York, usually a matter of less than twenty-four hours, recently took five days. On their part many publishers are meeting this problem by binding up more copies than usual, and it would seem wise for booksellers also to anticipate future demands wherever possible. On either side such unforeseen difficulties call for an unusual share of patience and co-operation.

In the Conference Committee on the War Revenue Bill the House conferees have insisted on including an increase of second-class postage under threat of blocking the bill altogether. The amount to be raised is almost negligible in comparison with the enormous amounts otherwise involved, and such legislation is properly, as we have so often reiterated, part of a postal and not of a revenue bill. The item has been a thorn in the flesh thruout and has delayed the passage of the War Revenue Bill, possibly for weeks. At this writing the final decision has not been announced, but it seems probable that there will be a considerable increase of rates on the zone system, newspapers chiefly of local circulation being left at present rates—so that most dailies are let off easily and their commercial opposition mollified. Newspaper and other publishers are willing to do their patriotic share in taxation as in other relations of the war, but they should continue to protest that postal legislation should not be forced as a part of war taxation and that they should not be subjected to penalizing class taxation, whether such taxation be on circulation or profits.

THE denial of postal privileges to the August Masses has been followed, while the case is still pending in the Federal courts, by an extraordinary ruling from the Postmaster General permanently denying second class privileges on the ground that as the August number was not sent thru the mails, the publication has not been of continuous issue. This is like tying a man hand and foot, and then shooting him because he does not hurry up and obey orders. Those who sympathize least with the political utterances of the Socialist periodical will, nevertheless, unite in large measure in protest against this bureaucratic misuse of authority and perversion of justice. It is extraordinary that the Vorwaerts is still permitted in autocratic Germany, tho the Masses is tabooed in democratic America.

HOW ONE BOOKSELLER HAS MET THE WAR

WHEN war was declared in April the W. K. Stewart Co. of Indianapolis decided that war-time bookselling would be as different in some respects from ordinary bookselling as a class in Browning is from a class in ballistics. A conference of the store salespeople was called after business that evening and Mr. Melcher explained that the war would undoubtedly mean new bookselling opportunities and new chances for public service for the store and that he would not be satisfied unless the store played a very definite part in the national crisis so far as that crisis affected Indianapolis.

The first step was to select and feature the more important books on history and the war that could help to mould the opinion of the community. Then, as soldiers began to appear on the streets, the military book field presented itself. "I didn't know enough about military affairs," Mr. Melcher says, "to know that ordnance was not spelled with an 'i' in the middle, but I made up my mind that if anybody in our community was going to need military books we would fit ourselves to supply them." The result was that such military publishers as Harvey, Banta and the Military Publishing Co. were put on the store's books—where they have stayed among the leaders ever since.

When the Fort Benjamin Harrison training camp for officers and military doctors was established twelve miles out of Indianapolis it was of course obvious that here would be a rich sales field and a genuine opportunity to serve the country thru the spread of the best in print on military subjects. The plan immediately came to a dead stop, however, when it ran up against the government regulation that no books shall be sold in such a reservation that are not authorized. Nobody knew what "authorized" meant and it would take weeks possibly to get a ruling from Washington on account of the press of more important matters clamoring for the attention of the War Department. Meanwhile officers and "rookies" were coming into the Indianapolis store daily for books and it was evident that a great many more could use certain valuable books to great advantage were their attention only called to them. Mr. Melcher accordingly laid the situation before the commanding officer and the result was a permit to open a small display stand in the training camp. That was June 1. By July 1 the business had increased to such an extent that the camp bookstore was moved to a room of its own and a branch store opened in another part of the camp. To-day five men are employed in the two stores and a special auto truck is kept busy between the city store and the camp. All business is cash and a substantial tho not exorbitant percentage of each day's gross receipts is paid the government for overhead. Some idea of the bulk of this camp business can be gained from the fact that the W. K. Stewart Co.'s Indianapolis store has sold this summer, largely thru the camp branches, 2500 copies of Moss' "Manual of Military Training," 1000 copies of Moss' "Officers' Manual," 900 of Danforth and Moretti's "Artillery Details," 600 Waldron's "Company Administration"—to cite but a few of the leaders.

All this may sound like a sort of booksellers' heaven in which all the dealer has to do is to make out bank deposit slips once a week, but this reflects neither the facts nor the spirit actuating the Stewart Co. in the venture. An unselfish effort is being made to furnish the men the very best that can be had in print on military science. The officer instructors are consulted about the merits of individual books and neither money nor energy is spared in getting the requisite stock. It has happened in certain cases that the store has telegraphed for express shipments of books on which the discount was so short as to make it practically impossible to make anything off the transaction after these extra shipping expenses were deducted. The interest of those commanding the camp in the good work being done by the stores is reflected in the fact that guests of these officers are always brought as a matter of course to see the camp's "model bookstores."

A professional copy writer has been hired by the store and specially prepared military book copy appears in the camp weekly newspaper and in the local Indianapolis papers. Advertising to the men is a practical necessity since the camp stores are not allowed to solicit their business in their quarters.

A similar tho considerably smaller camp bookstore is being conducted at Fort Sheridan by A. C. McClurg & Co. For the benefit of those to whom the success of the W. K. Stewart Co. at Fort Benjamin Harrison might suggest a similar store or stores in the new national army cantonments scattered over the country, it might be well to point out in passing that these outside bookselling agencies are only allowed in the officers reserve training camps; all such merchandising in the national army camps will apparently be conducted by the government.

NOTES FROM PARIS

"PARIS Herself Again" was the title of a book which appeared soon after the termination of the Franco-German war. It was not a remarkable production from a literary point of view, but the title was a happy one, and as it is now common property, and the original work is long since out of print, says K. Voltaire, the Paris correspondent of the English Bookseller, I presume, it might be worth the while of some enterprising publisher to commission a competent author who knows Paris well to make a study of the convalescence of the city.

For Paris is slowly but steadily becoming herself again. She is not, as in 1871, recovering quickly after a surgical operation, but gradually "mending" after a long and dangerous illness.

During the first days of the war, the bookshops presented a sorrowful spectacle. Perhaps the proportion of those that shut up altogether was less than in many other trades, but those that remained open had a sickly, asthenic air that almost made one wish they could be closed by order, like the gunsmith's next door. Inside the window they displayed nothing but a few sets of classics in half-calf, tied together with string, ticketed down to the lowest price, and peeping thru a forest of war maps. The outside shelves, once the delight of the flâneur, showed only a few post-cards in bad taste, some pre-war prophecies, and cheap booklets of the same type as those the book-agent tried to sell to Sylvestre Bonnard.

A few weeks later all this rubbish had disappeared, and had given place to cheap editions of modern novels by writers of repute. Many thousands of these books were sold, and, after they had been read by the purchaser and his family, were sent off to relatives or friends or to invalids in hospitals. A soldier's haversack is ill-adapted for carrying bound books, but a paper-covered book can be rolled up and stuffed into any odd corner, or if it had to be left behind, the loss was but trivial, as it had but cost half a franc, or perhaps 95 centimes at the most. That they are greatly appreciated I know on the best authority. There may not be much time for reading when in the trenches, but when he is in the second or third line a soldier has some leisure, and is glad of something that will "take him out of himself."

Within the last few weeks, new and original works of a more expensive kind have made their appearance. They are not, at present, very numerous, it is true, but it speaks very highly for the pluck and energy of the Paris publishers that there are as many. Authors, clerks, porters, readers, and correctors are away at the front doing battle with the Hun: "comps" are inexperienced and few in number, paper is scarce, and consequently dear,

PATRIOTIC ECONOMY AND BOOK-BUYING

Patriotic economy means the elimination of waste and extravagance. It means the conservation of our food products, our natural wealth, our health, our energies, our labor, our very lives. It means putting more efficiency into everything we do, so that each unit of money, energy and intelligence may accomplish the utmost.

Patriotic economy does not mean an extreme cutting down of expenditures, which would cause business depression, panic, inability to meet war taxes; it does not mean the lowering of America's standard of living, which would make us less efficient physically and mentally, nationally and individually, and would kill the spirit and the will to do the truly self-sacrificing things to be done.

Keep Business Going is a patriotic slogan. The natural sane life of the country must continue as though we were not at war, in order that we may have the prosperity needed to bring the war to a successful conclusion.

That you are reading these lines indicates that you are interested in books, that you buy them and read them.

This year, more than ever before, you will wish to buy books and read books. Because:

1. To be fully informed on what is happening in the greatest war in all history, you will wish to read "war books,"—personal narratives of experiences in the war zone, fiction picturing the sacrifices being made and the spiritual changes that are resulting, books about the chief people and movements in this world-wide struggle for the survival of democracy.

2. You are striving this year for efficiency—in your business, in your household, in yourself. You are thinking new thoughts, facing new problems. You want to know how the people who stay at home may "do their bit." Specialists have written books on every subject about which just now you are seeking information. There are books on gardening, agriculture, food conservation, balanced diet, private and public health and countless other subjects of national importance. Surely some of these will aid you!

3. There will be times, this year, when you will be depressed by your own trials and sorrows, sad at the thought of terrible suffering in many lands, gloomy because for an hour or a day the outlook for the world seems black. For these times there are books of humor, adventure and romance which shall open for you the door into another world and for a little space bring forgetfulness.

It has been our aim to provide books that will help meet these needs: books of information about the war, books to aid in increasing your efficiency during the war, books to take your mind off the war. We bespeak, therefore, your consideration of the volumes described in the following pages, confident that in them you will find either welcome entertainment or valuable information.

LITTLE, BROWN & COMPANY.

THIS SUGGESTIVE STATEMENT FROM LITTLE, BROWN & COMPANY'S FALL CATALOG MAY GIVE AN IDEA OR TWO FOR WINDOW CARDS AND STORE CIRCULARS and the cost of machining with coal at a fancy price—and often unobtainable even then—and the almost certain probability of a very limited sale for any expensive book must render publishing an unremunerative business.

Yet in a recent number of the Bibliographie de la France I counted the announcements of 90 new books—a very respectable number, considering the difficulties above enumerated. It is true that exactly half of them were actualités—that is to say, connected directly or indirectly with the war, and it is likely—nay, certain—that Bellona had left the marks of her blood-stained fingers on the pages of a good few of the remainder. Some of the novels and nearly all the poetry are the work of young men who have been killed in action. Not even the most savage of critics could find it in his heart to speak ill of a book when he knows the writer has gallantly laid down his life in the defence of his country, but he cannot help feeling that it would have been better to have let the MSS. of the poems rest in the custody of the hero's family.

The war creates daily so many anomalies and surprises that it evokes merely a mild astonishment to find that the most interesting new French book of the month is neither new nor French, for it was written by a Swiss who has been dead seventy years—"Études sur la littérature française au XIXe siècle," par Alexandre Vinet (Bridel, Lausanne; Fischbacher, Paris). Vinet was Professor of French Literature at a Swiss university, and he had a good deal to say in his lectures about Mme. de Staël, who was Swiss by descent.

When Vinet died, in 1847, his lectures were prepared for publication by "a committee," but Mme. de Staël's daughter demanded that all details concerning her mother's private life should be cut out, which was accordingly done. But Mme. de Staël has now been dead exactly a hundred years, and History has come into her rights, M. Paul Sirven, who had edited the present volume, having put back in their places the suppressed passages. They prove to be very harmless, for honest Vinet had no more intention of writing scandal about Mme. de Staël than about Queen Elizabeth.

An unintentionally amusing little booklet is "Germanophilie," by C. Saint-Saëns (Dorbon Aîné) which is mainly an abuse of Wagner by the greatest living French musician. Wagner was a true Hun in character, with all the blatant, blasphemous self-conceit of his fellow-countrymen. M. Saint-Saëns also "goes for" Shakespeare, tho "W. S." was certainly not a German. A version of the "Merchant of Venice" was recently produced at a Paris theater. As a spectacle, it was magnificently mounted, but it was a free adaptation—it began with the "casket scene"—and Shakespeare was not responsible for it, tho M. Saint-Saëns thinks he was. But as the old musician is an octogenarian, rendered querulous by age, and perhaps a bit disappointed that he is not better appreciated by the masses—"them asses," as the Times, by a happy misprint, once called them—we can afford to pardon his ill-temper.

NEW YORK BOOKSELLERS' SCHOOL TO RE-OPEN IN JANUARY

THE New York Booksellers' School, under the auspices of the Booksellers' League, will re-open on January 12 for a series of twelve Monday evening lectures. The school will be conducted this year, as last year and two years before, in connection with the Educational Department of the West Side Y. M. C. A. and at the Y. M. C. A. building at 318 W. 57th Street. According to Mr. Huebsch, director of the school, the course will consist of twelve closely integrated lectures on the practical problems of publishing and bookselling. The literary side of the bookseller's training will not be touched on, excepting as it may enter incidentally into the trade lectures; it has seemed advisable to discontinue the lectures in literature for the present because of the difficulty, with the course as now constituted, in getting the students to do the home work indispensable to such study.

The fee for the course will be in the neighborhood of five dollars, with a slight reduction for Y. M. C. A. members.

BOOK PAPER HEARING OCTOBER 10

THE Federal Trade Commission will hold a public hearing in Washington on October 10 to investigate the charge that manufacturers of book papers have combined to raise prices. This action follows the formal complaint filed by the Commission on August 25 against twenty-three manufacturers and against the secretary of the Bureau of Statistics of the Book Paper Manufacturers.

BOOK-TRADE ASSOCIATIONS

A. B. A. URGES CO-OPERATION WITH LIBRARIES IN WAR WORK

THE American Booksellers' Association is sending out the following bulletin to its members:

The public libraries of the United States are making a praiseworthy effort to secure good reading matter for soldiers. Booksellers should co-operate in every possible way. Offer your services to your local librarian today. Two directly practical means of co-operation suggest themselves at once.

1. Give publicity to the library's request for the donation of books. This can be done by window cards and by personal work by bookseller and employees, both at business and in social and club intercourse.

2. Use the utmost care in selling books when it is known that they are to be sent to soldiers. Libraries will gladly specify the kind of books desired, but it is obvious that they should be clean, wholesome, manly books, books with snap and go and humor. Window and store displays of good books for this purpose may well prove profitable. Intelligence must be used in the selection. It should not be a haphazard assortment of what is easiest to reach. This is another opportunity for us to prove that we are real booksellers with a sympathetic understanding of our product.

OBITUARY NOTES

LIEUT. HOWARD SIMSON TINDALL, lately junior partner in Messrs. Baillière, Tindall & Cox, the well-known medical publishers of Henrietta Street, London, was killed in action in Flanders on July 31.

G. H. WHITCOMBE, founder and managing director of Whitcombe & Tombs, Ltd., the well-known New Zealand booksellers conducting the principal bookstore in each of the four leading towns of New Zealand, died on August 13.

PERSONAL NOTES

RICHARD WRIGHT, formerly with DeWolf & Fiske Co., and H. B. Sanborn, formerly with the W. B. Clarke Co., are now connected with the Williams Bookstores Co., Boston.

ETHEL R. PEYSER, formerly connected with the staff of the New York Tribune, Good Housekeeping, and the New York Evening Mail, is now Business Manager of the Woman's Press, the new publishing business of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A.

PERIODICAL NOTES

Geyer's Stationer celebrated its fortieth birthday with the issue of September 6 by issuing a one hundred and fifty page Anniversary Number.

ON JANUARY 1, the Dial will increase its size from forty to forty-eight pages in order to make room for original essays, sketches and verse.

The Roycroft is a new publication issued from East Aurora, Ill. It takes the place of the Fra, altho it greatly resembles the Philistine. Elbert Hubbard, II, is editor-in-chief.

JUDGE A. N. HAND of the Federal District Court of New York has refused to enjoin Postmaster Patten of New York from holding up the mailing of the September issue of the Masses. It will be recalled that Judge Learned Hand directed the Postmaster to mail the August number, following a similar appeal by the publishers, but United States Attorney Caffey obtained an order delaying the matter until after an appeal had been decided by the Circuit Court. Pending this appeal, scheduled for October, Postmaster Burleson has taken away the second class privilege permanently on the ground that the delay in mailing the August issue violates the rule that periodicals must be issued regularly to secure the second class privilege. It was upon this ruling that Judge A. N. Hand's decision in the case of the September issue was chiefly based.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES

FUNK & WAGNALLS published this week "Inspiration and Ideals," by Grenville Kleiser.

"A GERMAN DESERTER'S WAR EXPERIENCE" (Huebsch) will be published in England,

France, Holland and Scandinavia. It is now in its fifth American printing.

DODD, MEAD & Co. are re-issuing "Gibby of Clamshell Alley" by J. S. van Dresser, published in the spring of 1916 as adult fiction, in a new edition, identical in format and price, as a juvenile.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL Co. brought out this week another volume in their popular series of books on great writers: "Tennyson—How to Know Him," by Raymond M. Alden, professor of English, Leland Stanford Junior University.

BEGINNING OCTOBER 5 Charles Scribner's Sons will change the date of publication of their books from Saturday to Friday. This, they claim, has been found necessary to satisfy the demand of people going away for the week-end.

THE FORTY-FOURTH ANNUAL VOLUME of "Peloubet's Select Notes on the International Lessons" has just been issued by Wilde. This volume is the first in the new cycle of Improved Uniform texts, covering a period of eight years.

BONI & LIVERIGHT are issuing this month a moderate priced reprint of James Stephen's "Mary, Mary," with an introduction by Padraic Colum. Among recent notable additions to the Modern Library published by this house is H. G. Wells' "Ann Veronica."

"HOSPITAL FRENCH" (Dutton) is a vest-pocket volume prepared under the auspices of the base hospital division, New York County chapter of the American Red Cross and intended especially for the use of the doctors and nurses of the hospital units working in the base hospitals in France.

FLYNN & VAN HECKE of 40 N. Dearborn Street, Chicago, have purchased the exclusive rights to publish and distribute the handy little "Vest Pocket Lawyer," a pocket compendium of laws and legal forms, more than 10,000 copies of which have been sold in the past two years. A two-color display card is furnished the trade.

JOHN FOX, JR.'s new book, "In Happy Valley," the first novel from his pen in four years, will be published by the Scribners on October 5. It is said to be a notable addition to the stories of Kentucky mountain folk whom his "Trail of the Lonesome Pine" and "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" have endeared to so many thousands.

THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION will inaugurate before the close of the month a system of compulsory weekly and monthly reports from newsprint manufacturers of the amount of paper manufactured and the amount on hand. It is hoped in this way to check the tendency to raise prices owing to alleged shortages. The Canadian Government will be asked to co-operate.

JAMES T. WHITE & Co., 70 Fifth Avenue, New York, announce a Modern American Poetry Series in uniform style, purposing to Kenyon, and "A Garden of Remembrance," by James Terry White. There are to be new volumes by Clinton Scolard, Madison Cawein, Samuel Minturn Peck, Jane Burr, Edith Willis Linn, and others.

BOOKSELLERS thruout the East, as far west as Buffalo and as far south as Washington, should note especially the publication of the excellent revised (1917) edition of the Appalachian Mountain Club's "Guide to Paths in the White Mountains and Adjacent Regions." It should be an easy sale to any Eastern tramp. The 1917 revised edition is issued in three formats: brown buckram with flap uniting covers and holding pencil; same without flap; and field edition in two parts, in brown drill.

THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS began this week to run "My Four Years in Germany," by former Ambassador Gerard, appearing in the Philadelphia Public Ledger for the past six weeks, and announced for publication in book form by Doran on October 1. The Public Ledger has already brought suit against the Kansas City Post because it began publication of the articles before the scheduled time, September 16, for which it had secured publishing rights. A temporary injunction was refused on technical grounds, but the court, in declining the injunction, required the Post to enter a bond of $15,000 to pay any damages which the Ledger may have suffered.

BUSINESS NOTES

CHATTANOOGA, TENN.—C. W. Treat has disposed of his second-hand bookshop to Thos. B. Stapp, who will continue the business, with added lines of new goods.

ELLENVILLE, N. Y.—Eugene Spock has sold his bookstore to A. D. Clark.

HOLYOKE, MASS.—R. R. Nickerson, bookseller, newsdealer and stationer, has sold out to H. J. Honey and W. H. McGrath, who will operate under the name of Nickerson Supply Co.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—C. W. Treat, formerly of Chattanooga, is opening a bookstore at 219 South Illinois Street, where he will be engaged, as heretofore, in the buying and selling of second-hand and rare books.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Booklovers Picture Corporation has been incorporated with $1000 capital stock, by Gustave C. Dreyfus, Raymond S. Harris and Charles S. Gosling.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.—The Litchfield Magazine, Gift and Art Shop is a new concern at 356 Main Street.

The three Harmans, Alice, Bob, and Carl, started on a bee-keeping venture, the financial success of which meant an engineering course for Bob, and a journalistic career for Carl. Their summer in the wilds of Canada held many adventures—a fight with a mad timber-wolf, an encounter with a black bear, and various troubles caused by the enmity of Larue, a French-halfbreed, whose drunken hatred caused him to start forest fires which threatened to bring disaster to the Harmans and their bee-scheme. In the end they save Larue's child from the fires, thus winning his good-will, and their summer ends successfully.

The young girl book agent, in reality a wealthy and charming young lady, seriously ill, is sent to the hospital in Jordan King's car. Jordan is later injured in an automobile accident and is taken to the hospital, where Anne is convalescing. Thus begins the romance which ends happily for all concerned.

Riley, W. The way of the winepress. N. Y., Putnam. 8+311 p. D $1.50 n.

Tells of Yorkshire mill life, into which enter a boy and girl, Louis and Vic. Louis determines to marry Vic some day, but when they grow up and she goes off to college as a protégée of the kindly Mr. Truman, her tutor, Louis, well-established in the mill, finds his affection growing for Mary, the mill-owner's niece. Mill troubles are brewing as a result of Mr. Middleton's bigoted conservatism. Thru a mill-hand's trap for revenge Mr. Truman is hurt and becomes an invalid for life, and then a fire at the mill injures Middleton who has suffered bankruptcy as well. Out of this chaos comes an unexpected loan, and when Vic and Mr. Truman find each other the road is made easy for Louis and Mary.

Under the headings of "BOOKS WANTED" and "BOOKS FOR SALE" book-trade subscribers are given under their own names five nonpareil lines (exclusive of address) free advertising for specified books, not more than one title to the line, in any issue except special numbers, but not exceeding one hundred lines a year, a maximum of fifty lines under "Books Wanted" and fifty lines under "Books for Sale," and if over five lines are sent for either department in only one issue, or fifty lines for each department within the calendar year, the excess is at ten cents a line. Bills for this service will be rendered monthly. Objectionable books are excluded so far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that will deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis should put [Cash] after their firm name. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withholding the privileges of advertising should occasion arise, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

"Books Wanted" must be designated by actual title, not by "any."

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible "wants" are ignored. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors. Parties with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

Under "HELP WANTED" or for other small undisplayed advertisements, the charge is 10 cents a nonpareil line. No reduction for repeated matter. Count seven words to the ...

3 GREAT BOOKS for BOYS

—THE STORIES OF—

Young George Washington, Young Abraham Lincoln
 Young Benjamin Franklin,
 by Wayne Whipple.

Large 12mo. Bound in Cloth, with eight full-page illustrations in colors. Price, $1.00 each volume.

"So when I saw in the package of books, The Story of Young George Washington, the Story of Young Benjamin Franklin, and the Story of Young Abraham Lincoln, I wasn't much disposed to read them until I noticed they were 'stories' and that they were all about when these great men were boys. They sure did have wonderful times, all of them, and the books tell it all in such a simple, thrilling way that you get just as much interested in what is going to happen next as you do when you are reading a story that's all made up." "Billie Bookworm" in BOYS' LIFE, the Boy Scouts' Magazine.

Beautifully Made Books, Especially Suitable for Giving

The HEART of O SONO SAN

By ELIZABETH COOPER

Author of "My Lady of the Chinese Courtyard," etc.

What "My Lady of the Chinese Courtyard" did for the women of China, this book does for the women of Japan. It is an intimate study in narrative form of the heart and spirit of a true Japanese woman from girlhood through womanhood, showing her life of self-sacrifice. 31 illustrations in duotone ink. Cloth, 8vo, net $1.75.

A PILGRIMAGE with a MILLINER'S NEEDLE

By ANNA WALTHER

"The fact of Miss Walther's 'millinering' her way through three continents is sufficient to make one want to read her book, but it is the book itself that must keep us reading it. I cannot imagine anyone taking it up without being caught by the vital charm of the narrative."—Richard LeGallienne. 15 illustrations in sepia. Cloth, 8vo, net $1.50.

BENEFITS FORGOT

By HONORÉ WILLISIE

Author of "Lydia of the Pines," etc.

Every soldier in the service should own a copy of this book. True in fact, and eternally true in application, it tells of a young army surgeon in the Civil War who repaid with neglect his mother's patient devotion. How his thoughtlessness was rebuked by the personal intervention of President Lincoln, and how he came to realize his ingratitude, make the rest of a deeply touching story. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo, net 75c.

The ANGEL of CHRISTMAS

By STELLA G. S. PERRY

A very modern and touching story of true Christmas spirit v.s. thoughtlessness and greed, by an author who frankly acknowledges her debt to Dickens and "The Christmas Carol." Illustrated in color. Cloth, 12mo, net 75c.

ANNE'S HOUSE OF DREAMS

By L. M. MONTGOMERY

Author of "ANNE OF GREEN GABLES," etc.

All who have read "Anne of Green Gables" will be interested in this new novel in which Anne's "dream" comes true, but all romance lovers will enjoy it whether they have read the author's previous works or not.

Gayety, common sense and happiness pervade the novel. It deals with simple life, wholesome and good, about which Miss Montgomery writes with enthusiasm and out of a whole heart.

MARMADUKE

By FLORA ANNIE STEEL

Author of "King Errant," etc.

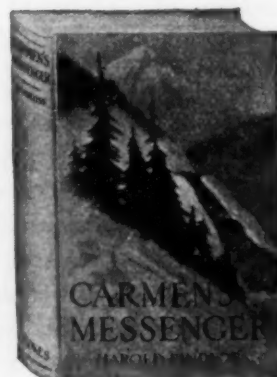

A romantic story of Scotland, long before the War, without problems of any kind. A splendid love story with an interesting plot and remarkably good characters. Cloth, 12mo, net $1.40.

CARMEN'S MESSENGER

By HAROLD BINDLOSS

Author of "Brandon of the Engineers," etc.

A gripping story of the Canadian Northwest. Exciting events follow one another quickly in this novel, ranging from a thrilling cross-country chase over England—in which the pursuer is the pursued—to a dangerous climb up the slippery side of one of California's highest mountains. Interwoven in this swift story of strong men and women are two delightful romances. Cloth, 12mo, net $1.35.

STOKES' AUTUMN FICTION

FANNY HERSELF

By EDNA FERBER

Author of "Emma McChesney & Co.," etc.

Edna Ferber's best work—her first novel since "Dawn O'Hara"—one of the big books of the Fall.

Her heroine, of Jewish parentage, equipped with a driving force of human energy, plunges into the business game. Caught by the glamor of big business, she plays for high stakes. How she works out her destiny along original lines makes the rest of the story.

It is ripe work—this new book of American life. The man or woman who reads FANNY HERSELF today will remember and smile over it ten years from today. Fanny Brandeis will live in American fiction that long—and longer—because she has qualities that do not die. 4 illustrations. Cloth, 12mo, net $1.40.

A YOUNG LION OF FLANDERS By J. VAN AMMERS KUELLER

A strong novel centering around the experiences of a young Belgian despatch-bearer in the early days of the war. It is a vivid picture of Belgium's bravery before the German hordes. Cloth, 12mo, net $1.50.

THE WAGES OF VIRTUE By CAPT. PERCIVAL C. WREN

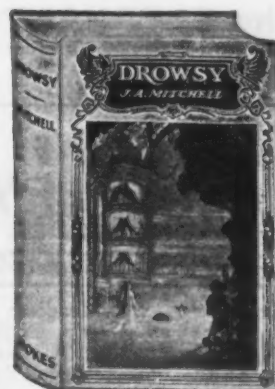

A powerful story of the Foreign Legion, "that most famous, most reckless, most courageous regiment in the world." A novel marked by forceful character drawing, vivid description and thrilling incident. Cloth, 12mo, net $1.50.

DROWSY

By JOHN A. MITCHELL

Author of "The Last American," etc.

In this extraordinary novel the author returns to a field in which he is a proved master. This is the romantic story of a woman and a reckless lover with a strange inheritance. His romance is charming, and while his achievements seem incredible, would not the Atlantic Cable have been a fairy tale to Columbus? Frontispiece in color and 14 full-page black-and-white illustrations. Cloth, 12mo, net $1.50.

THE LIVING PRESENT

By GERTRUDE ATHERTON

Author of "The Conqueror," etc.

WHAT WOMEN CAN DO in wartime, as exemplified by the supreme achievement of the women of France, and a full treatment of all phases of women's work in wartime and in peace. Part II is concerned with the problems confronting American women. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo, net $1.50.

GRENSTONE POEMS

By WITTER BYNNER

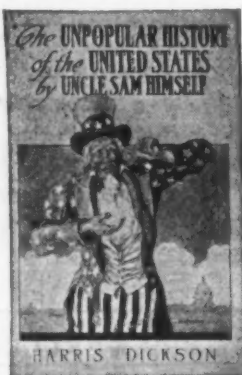

Author of "Young Harvard," etc.

"There are few poets who, like Witter Bynner, can put into their lines genuine feeling, the passion of beauty, which is the authentic mark of true poetry," is the comment of the Literary Digest preceding the quotation of several of the "Grenstone Poems." Cloth, 8vo, illustrated, net $1.75. Cloth, 12mo, not illustrated, net $1.35.

INTERIOR DECORATION

By AGNES F. WRIGHT

Helpful ideas and accurate information for those who cannot employ decorators or who employ them and wish to work understandingly with them. Mrs. Wright advocates the sane middle path between the desk-from-a-packing-box idea and strictly period interiors. Fully illustrated. Cloth, 8vo, net $2.25.

THE UNPOPULAR HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

By HARRIS DICKSON

Only facts from Uncle Sam's own records are given in this true account of our military history. Unpalatable facts, some of them, but since Uncle Sam wants future history to be more gratifying reading, he takes an honest look at the skeletons in his closet and discusses them with real Yankee horse sense. Cloth, 12mo, net 75c.

WILLIAM PENN

WHAT ALLAH WILLS

A Tale of Morocco—The Land of the Purple Sunset

By IRWIN L. GORDON

Author of "The Log of the Ark," Etc.

Wherein a man and a girl leave the everyday things where the world is new and come away to that far off country of shining minarets. . . . And when Mercedes Maxim pushes back the magic call of the desert for the last time, you close a book on living people in living places.

Illustrated by Modest Stein. Net, $1.35.

TWO BIG BOOKS

LIMEHOUSE NIGHTS

By Thomas Burke

These remarkable stories of love and life in London's Chinatown constitute a real literary discovery. In England and America their beauty and almost brutal frankness have aroused a storm of comment.

H. G. WELLS says:

"Nor have I seen anywhere anything like adequate praise for the romantic force and beauty of Mr. Thomas Burke's 'Limehouse Nights.' In the earlier Nineties when Henley was alive and discovering was in fashion that book would have made a very big reputation indeed." Clement K. Shorter calls it "A Work of Genius." The Liverpool Post says that "Kipling has written nothing more powerful."

MY ADVENTURES AS A GERMAN SECRET AGENT

By Captain Horst von der Goltz

For ten years Capt. von der Goltz was a Secret Agent of Imperial Germany. In this book he tells the story of his adventures and participation in many of the most important events of our time. Plots, revolutions, secret treaties—it was with these that his daily life was concerned. Secret Agent in all parts of Europe and America; soldier in the United States Army; staff officer under Villa—these are but a few of the various capacities in which he has done his work. At the outbreak of the European war, he became Capt. von Papen's aide and adviser in the numerous conspiracies against the United States. Sent to Germany to report to his Government, he was later captured and imprisoned in England. His betrayal by the German Government and his subsequent release, in order to testify in this country against the German plotters form the climax of his story.

Ready in September. Illustrated by Official documents and photographs.

DELIVERY

Webster's Business Dictionary gives us this definition.

DELIVERY — the sending out, on a stipulated date, of a consignment of merchandise to its purchaser.

We have looked the word up and know exactly what it means. Our ever increasing business is due, to a great extent, to the fact that promises made by us are kept. If your Book Printer disappoints you write or 'phone us.

The Latest Hit in Juveniles—"The Little Jetts"

ABSOLUTELY UNIQUE AND A QUICK SELLER

The First Edition of this book was exhausted in two weeks.

208 Pictures, tingling with the eloquence of simple and familiar Bible Stories.

Children are charmed by it at first sight; Parents and Teachers enthusiastic over it.

Very Unusual Cover—In Bright Colors. Makes a Brilliant Window Display. Boards—10x7—Two colors throughout

MR. JOHN WANAMAKER sent the author his personal congratulations.

MR. WM. T. ELLIS, of Philadelphia, writes: "It is certainly the best method of telling Bible Stories to children that I know. I congratulate you heartily."

DR. WALTER W. MOORE, President of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., says: "With all their simplicity, the pictures will interest little folks in the Bible stories far more effectually than elaborately finished illustrations could do. All mothers of young children will hail this book with delight. I predict for it a record breaking circulation."

DR. WM. RAY DOBYNS, of St. Joseph, Mo., says: "I consider 'The Little Jetts' the most unique and interesting presentation of Scripture to children that I have ever seen."

TWO EXCEPTIONS TO A MARKED TENDENCY

THE selling price of very nearly every commodity is steadily on the rise.

There are two exceptions, however. Postage stamps are still sold at two cents and the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL can be bought at $2.50, as of yore.

You can depend on getting the latter at this price while the supply lasts, but Uncle Sam may need three cents before the snow flies, for delivering your letter!

The bookseller has at least one thing to be really thankful for!

HAMMOND'S Large Scale War Map of the WESTERN FRONT

This map is proving far more popular than was expected. One little dealer in Minneapolis notes on his third order for fifty copies within three weeks that it is "just what people are looking for at the present time."

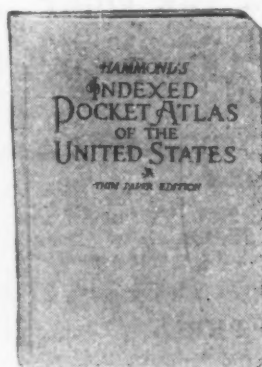

Our retail store reports that sales on this new map exceed those of all other war maps put together—that there is more interest now than at any time since the beginning of the war.

This is the most complete one-sheet map of the Western Theatre of War on the market. It includes practically every hamlet, town and village as well as forests, fortifications, airship depots, wireless stations, railways, etc. The present battle line and that of three years ago are given for comparison.

An index of over 7,000 names is included. This locates all the places mentioned in the newspapers and is an exceedingly valuable feature. Attractive cover.

PRICES

Indexed Edition, printed on cloth, $2.00. Indexed Edition, printed on paper, $1.00. Popular Edition, without index, .50

HAMMOND'S Indexed Pocket Atlas of the UNITED STATES

This is the handiest little book of maps available—6 x 4 inches, making an ideal atlas for travelers—the first one really designed for their use.

The Indexed Pocket Atlas contains double page maps of each of the states of the United States, with full page maps of the more densely populated districts around the larger cities. The maps are beautifully printed in colors; they are revised to date; they show and name the railroads.

Following or preceding the map of a state is an index to the map with the population figures also given.

The atlas is bound in gray flexible cloth, with blue cover die. Rounded corners, colored edges. 160 pages. Price, 50 cents. Ready November 1st

HAMMOND'S Comprehensive Atlas of the World

No atlas in recent years has attained the favor of this one. Its compactness—9½ x 7 inches in size and its completeness—512 pages of maps and text matter—make it a valuable book for everyone. "When referring to it, you can hold it in one hand" is an excellent commendation.

The Comprehensive is revised to date; indeed, it is ahead of the times, for its self-revising coupon entitles the owner to a supplement at the end of the war, showing the changes as established by the Peace Treaties.

Cloth binding, $4.00; flexible leather binding, $5.00.

HAMMOND'S Atlas of Economic Geography

This book is unique. It is interesting. It is of great import to the student and the business man.

Its maps embrace all sides of physical and economic geography as applied to the six continents. Double page maps show relief of land, summer climate, winter climate, temperature, natural vegetation, mining products, agricultural products, density of population, languages and political divisions.

This collection of maps supplements every other atlas made—no fear of duplicating maps to be found in any other book.

Size, 9½ x 7½ inches—80 pages. Bound in flexible cloth, $1.00.
